Tutoring Experience

My journey as a tutor began over six years ago, when I discovered my passion for teaching during my undergraduate studies at the University of Barcelona. Since then, I have had the pleasure of working with students from diverse backgrounds, helping them navigate the challenging worlds of Philosophy, Theory of Knowledge, and Mathematics. My approach to tutoring is holistic and student-centred. I believe that understanding a student's unique learning style is key to unlocking their potential. Over the years, I have developed tailored strategies that cater to individual needs, whether that involves breaking down complex philosophical theories or tackling intricate mathematical problems. One of my most memorable experiences was assisting a student who initially struggled with TOK concepts. Through our sessions, they not only improved their grades significantly but also developed a newfound appreciation for the subject. I have also successfully prepared students for Oxbridge applications, with a particular focus on the rigorous interviews and entrance exams. My goal is always to make learning an enjoyable and enlightening experience, helping students build confidence in their abilities and achieve their academic goals.
